New On-Site
Workshop for
Early Childhood
Educators

Build a Solid Literacy Foundation in Your Beginning Readers

The CORE Sound Beginnings Workshop provides practical instruction for preschool educators and administrators on critical early literacy topics, focusing on the instruction that will make a significant difference in young children's progress toward literacy.

Throughout the three-day workshop, preschool educators and administrators watch, learn, and practice techniques that will engage students and help them demonstrate their understanding of tasks. Video models of expert teachers demonstrate each method taught, providing concrete examples for educators to take back to the classroom.

The workshop will help all those working with young children to understand current research and implement best practices, particularly those articulated in the Report of the National Early Literacy Panel (NELP 2008).

In this three-day workshop, participants will:

Understand the critical components of early literacy instruction

Understand an assessment resource

Learn how to assist families in providing home support

Plan the implementation of what has been learned

Leave with lesson models and instructional strategies

Level: Pre-K

Audience: Preschool educators and administrators and paraprofessionals

Format: Three full days

Materials: Participant Resource Guide and What Works: An Introductory Teacher Guide for Early Language and "Emergent Literacy" (published by the National Center for Family Literacy)

Topics include:

- Code-focused instruction
- Linguistics for code-focused instruction
- Phonological awareness
- Alphabet knowledge
- Phonics
- Print awareness
- Handwriting
- Oral language
- Shared reading
- Vocabulary

... in addition to the general topics of assessment, planning, and working with parents
